GUARDIOLA'S 'SYMPATHY' FOR THE DEVILS

SORRY FOR YOUR LOSSES

Pep: Fall from grace is tough on United, I feel for them*

MAN CITY V MAN UTD
TOMORROW, 3.30pm

PEP GUARDIOLA claims he feels sorry for Manchester United because of their decade of misery since Sir Alex Ferguson quit.
Manchester City are red-hot favourites to pile the pain on Erik ten Hag's men when they meet at the Etihad tomorrow. City have turned Manchester blue in the last decade, having won 20 trophies in that time compared to United's four following Fergie's retirement in 2013.
The Old Trafford club have not come close to winning the title since then, while City are aiming to make it a record four in a row.
Guardiola said: "I would say at big clubs you have to win and win. Not Turn to Page 50"
